COLUMN FOR LADIES.

Some Ladies are very Hard to Suit

When buying a hat We find that in our business daily, but they never leave Janavitz' busy store until they have hat in hand and elevated over getting just what they wanted. I tell you ladies,it's just like when you happen in to a shoe store. There is a limited assortment of the styles, the fit, the ideal shoe of your taste is not there. So with most of the milliners. You go to other stores and the stock is limited and you can't get suited.

NOT SO AT JANAVITZ

And the ladies all know it too. The demand at our store for hats is extremely heavy and consequently our stock is immense.

ONLY TUESDAY I RECEIVED 25 DOZENS OF SAILORS

I have sent in another order. Think of it. We have the leading New York styles, which come in Milan or Chip straw.

FROM 98c to $3.98

Other stores charge you $2 for the same hat we sell you for 98c. 'Ill do you good to inspect our sailors and Leghorns and ready trimmed hats. We shall trim any shape to suit you. Come in and look around.

HEY there politician, if you have any tears to shed, prepare to shed them now.

TUNE your ear to catch any false notes in the rate bill's swan song.

BOOKMAKERS and race track gamblers are on the run in almost every state of the Union. The attention of legislatures is called to the fact in the hope that the voice of the people will have great effect.

THE opinion of that man who terms the state legislature a bargain counter for the Senate is not far wrong in one direction. The public has "marked down" one or two members for future decapitation.

MEMORIAL day is approaching when the graves of the old soldiers who lie beneath the sod will be decorated with flowers and the voice of the orator will reverberate to tell the story of the men who lived and died for their country's cause. There can be no grander celebration than one held in mark of respect for the dead soldies. May 31 should be celebrated as one of the greatest festive holidays marked on our calendar. Old and young should be taught its true significance and each year we should be able to hold a greater celebration throughout the land, for each year our country possesses greater achievements and the preservation of our flag should have a greater significance to every American citizen.

THE columns of the Daily Independent is the index of the prosperity and activity of Monessen. Every enterprising merchant's advertisement appears therein and we commend the buying public to the home stores and can give the assurance that our merchants will protect their patrons in every possible way. They help keep up the town, support our home industries and should have the trade. The same applies to the newspapers. They stand ready at all times to protect the merchant and advance his interests and should be accorded the patronage. There is no need of sending out of town to get job work done. The home newspaper offices are well equipped and prepared to do any kind of work and do it at a living profit. The merchant who ignores his home enterprises does not deserve success. Let us all be loyal and patriotic and work harmoniously for the advancement of Monessen.

Do You Want an Investment in a Real Gold Mine?

Munhall Tonopah is not a get-rich-quick proposition that may pan out if you live long enough.

It is a producing gold mine, consisting of five claims, or 100 acres in the richest gold mining district of Tonopah, Nevada.

Most of the stock is owned by United States Steel Corporation men, including C M. Schwab, former President of the Steel Corporation.

These men have faith in Munhall-Tonopah. They have put their own money in it They never have been identified with a failure They generally know a proposition before they invest.

They investigated this one and are convinced that it is good

They found that shaft 258 feet deep had been sunk - a double compartment, finely timbered shaft, and that in this, three well defined ledges had been cut—that the ore taken from these ledges assayed from $10 to $12 a ton.

They organized the company with a capital of $1,000,000 00 divided into 1,000,000 shares, par value $1 each.

They have ordered an up-to date steam hoist and complete plant for getting out the ore—a plant capable of sinking shafts to a depth of 1800 feet The plant and outfit will be on the ground May 1

Everything will be in readiness for operation in a very short time

More money is now needed to continue the operations, and a very LIMITED AMOUNT of stock is offered at 25c THE SHARE. When this stock is sold no more will be offered. Ore is now being taken out and there is practically no doubt that when shipments begin, the mine will be one of the best payers in Tonopah. It OUGHT to be every bit as valuable as Tonopah Extension.

Experts have found that the veins tapped now are continuations of the veins of the celebrated Mizpah Mines, the ores of which assay from $16 to $265 a ton

We invite close investigation The men who have put their money in this mine expect to make a great deal of money out of it. They are not making extravagant promises, or guaranteeing big dividends. The prospect looks might good. If you want to take a chance with them the opportunity is yours—But you'll have to speak quickly—There s might little stock still to be sold.

The officers and directors of Munhall Tonopah are S S Wales, Pres., G W. J. Brown, Treas; L H Bowman, Secy, Reese James, John Lawler, E.W. Lewis and W A Griffith Our references are, National Bank of Western Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh; First National Bank, Homestead, Pa; Mohongahela Trust Company, Homestead, Pa Address all communications and orders for stock to

BALLINGTON'S CANINE PARADOX

By Angus MacEwan

Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

It was characteristic of Ballington that he accepted even his dismissal as Katherine Gordon's suitor placidly and with a due regard for the proprieties. His voice was cool and even and shaded to the exact note of regret that a well bred man should permit himself. As Katherine told herself afterward, it was like a John Drew matinee.

But if Ballington showed no outward emotion it was not because he did not care for the girl whose dashing ways were his exact opposite; neither did he give up hope. Under that carefully groomed exterior there lay a bulldog tenacity of purpose that few suspected, least of all Kittie Gordon.

He kept on at the Bruntons' house party, and even Dickie Hines lost sleep wondering whether Kittie really had given him his answer, so correctly polite was he in his attentions to her, for which Kittie was devoutly thankful, since Mrs. Brunton had given positive orders that she marry Ballington, and Mrs. Brunton's word was law unto itself.

It was her disobedience which brought about the crisis, for when Ballington left there had been an inquisition and Kittie, with a fine show of spirit, had flounced out of the room, declaring that she would return to her studio and freedom rather than eat of the fleshpots as a slave, and the disappointed Mrs. Brunton had ordered the carriage around and had taken to bed with a sick headache over the miscarriage of her pet plan for her niece.

So it happened that Kittie in her impetuosity did not realize that she was without money until she approached the ticket window at the tiny station. With a gasp she turned away from the window and sat down on one of the hard benches to think over the situation.

Town was 150 miles away, so that walking was out of the question. There was no one she could write to to send her money, and she would die rather than go back to her aunt's house and ask for her fare. Her brain was still in a whirl when Harding Ballington came slowly into the waiting room.

With a rush she had crossed to him, and in another second was pouring out her tale—a trifle incoherently, but in sufficient detail to enable Ballington to surmise what the matter was.

"That will be a very easy matter," he declared. "I'm going up to town myself and shall be glad to escort you."

"What are you doing here, anyway?" she asked curiously. "I thought you had gone away last week."

"Fred Cousins and I were back in the woods for a little shooting," he explained. "We came out yesterday, and I stayed over to see the county fair. Do you know I never saw a county fair before?"

"I'm glad you stayed to see it," she smiled. "Just suppose you had not come along. I should have been stranded here."

"As it is," he laughed back, "I think I had better be getting the tickets."

He reached for his pocketbook, but withdrew his hand, empty, and made a rapid search of his other pockets, finally turning with a look of blank dismay.

"Do you know," he exclaimed, "that my pockets have been picked? I have some small change, less than $2, but not enough even for your ticket. I will have to telephone the Bruntons."

"You will not," she begged. "To have Aunt Emma saying all sorts of horrid things?"

"I might report my loss to the town constable," he suggested. "He may find it in time for us to catch the train. I might offer my watch as a pledge for the tickets, only they took that too."

"Don't you know any one else about here?" she pleaded. "Some one you could borrow from?" Ballington shook his head

"The best I can suggest," he said, "would be to wire for some money."

"But that would not come in time for the train," she objected "I never could stay in this town all night."

"Why not the Bruntons?" he pleaded. "They seem to be our only quick salvation."

"If you suggest that again I shall never speak to you," she scolded. "She would be sure to find out, and I'd die before I let her know."

"I might put the dog in pawn," he suggested whimsically. "Poor Bruce is about all the light fingered gentry left me."

He regarded the ragged little fellow with affectionate interest. The dog had been his dead brother's pet, and, while his rough coat gave him a shockingly disreputable appearance, Bruce was clever beyond the run of dogs.

During his brother's last illness Ballington had taught the dog a score of clever tricks for the invalid's amusement, and Bruce was proud of his accomplishments. Feeling that he was being made the subject of the conversation, the little fellow gravely turned a somersault and sat up on his haunches. For a moment Ballington regarded his pet's accomplishment with speculative eye.

"Do you mind if I leave you a little while?" he asked.

"You are not going to the Bruntons?" she demanded suspiciously.

"My word of honor," he said simply. "May I suggest that you get yourself a cup of tea at the hotel?" He placed some coins in her hand and with a bow strolled out of the station.

It was difficult to get anything at the hotel with the fair goers invading the place, but at last she succeeded in getting a light lunch and started back to the station.

The special excursion trains were pulling out of the station now, and the platform was crowded with tired pleasure seekers. Off at one side a large crowd had gathered, and, finding that Ballington was not in the station, she strolled over to see what the attraction might be.

With a gasp she saw that Ballington was putting Bruce through his tricks for the edification of the crowd, and with a sudden rush of anger she wondered if he had been drinking. Then with a revulsion of feeling she saw him gravely remove his hat and pass it around the crowd. Most of them melted away, but many of them stopped to drop a coin in the hat and pet the dog. At last they were all gone, and with a flushed face she was looking straight into Ballington's laughing eyes.

"I've got enough for the fares and the Pullman seats," he said as he came toward her. "Behold Bruce, the rescuer of damsels in distress."

She caught the dog up in her arms and hid her moist eyes in his shaggy coat. Slowly she turned toward the station, but Ballington laid a hand upon her arm.

"I would suggest," he said, "that since our train is not due for an hour yet and as these excursion trains will be out of the way by then it might prove less embarrassing to you if you waited until they were gone. They might recognize your traveling companion."

"And to think I might have spared you this if I had let you telephone the Bruntons," she said penitently. Ballington laughed.

"Do you know I rather enjoyed it?" he confessed. "I think Bruce did too. He shall have his reward tonight in the best chicken to be had in the market."

"And you?" she asked.

"I shall have the satisfaction of knowing that we have fooled Mrs. Brunton," he laughed carelessly.

She held out her hand. "I refused you the other day because I was afraid you were too dandified to be human," she said softly. "I know better now. Will you ask me again?"

But there was no need to ask. Eyes spoke to eyes, and each knew the other's message.

Famous Old City of Mexico.

The City of Mexico is the political, social, industrial and financial capital of the republic. Set within the tropics at an elevation of 7,347 feet above the sea, surrounded by cloud piercing mountains and snow capped volcanoes, it is singularly exempt from sudden changes of temperature—too high for heat and too far south for cold. It is probably the oldest city of the Americas. Here the first printing press was set up and the first newspaper published nearly 100 years before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth rock. The municipal government of the city has gone on under almost identical form for three centuries and a half. While viceroys, emperors, dictators and presidents have come and gone, Indians, Spaniards, French and Americans have fought and struggled in and about the city.

"Among the most beautiful terrestrial scenes that it is possible for the human eye to contemplate," says a celebrated writer, "few equal and probably none surpass that of the valley of Mexico viewed from the neighboring heights surrounding it."—Modern Mexico.

Had a Grip of the Subject.

A tall old lady, dressed in black and with a very businesslike manner, walked into a well known London establishment and, declining the service of the shop walker, made directly for the crape counter. She had rather a thoughtful air as she examined the stock, and the obliging young shopman remarked affably:

"We have a very large stock of crapes, madam. Just allow me to show you some new French goods, very popular just now for every kind of mourning. Now, these light crapes are all the rage for half mourning for cousins. May—may I ask, madam," he added hesitatingly, "for whom you are in mourning?"

"Husband," said the customer briefly.

"Ah, yes. Then I have just the material you require. The best style is"—

"Young man," interposed the old lady severely, "I am much obliged for your explanation. You may know a lot about the fashion, but as I buried my fourth husband yesterday you may be sure I've got a grip of the subject."—London Tit-Bits.

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Tastes good and is harmless.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels—thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial effections. Sold by C. A. Light.

Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon Jake Moore, of Atlanta, Ga., says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. A friend recommended Kodol. It relieved me in one day and I now enjoy better health than for many years." Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on stomach, belching, etc.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

A liquid cold cure for children that is pleasant, harmless and effective is Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. Superior to all other cough syrups or cold remedies because it acts on the bowels. An ideal remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough and all curable lung and bronchial effections in child or adult. Pleasant to take. Sold by C. A. Light.

If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve, but be sure you get that made by E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago. It is the Original. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by R. W. Beck.

The gums and resins obtained from pine trees have long been recognized as highly beneficial in the treatment of backache, kidney and bladder troubles. Pine-ules is the name of a new medicine, the principle ingredients of which come from the pine forests of our own native land. Sold by C. A. Light.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A certain cure for coughs, croup and whooping cough. Makes breathing easy, cuts out phlegm, and draws out the inflammation. It should be kept on hand for immediate use.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

It is not difficult to relieve blind bleeding, itching or protruding piles with ManZan, the great pile remedy. It is put up in collapsable tubes with nozzle, and may be introduced and applied at the seat of the trouble. Stops pain instantly. Sold by C. A. Light.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, pitfing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol Digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

For bloating, belching, indigestion, etc., eat a Ring's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals. Sold by C. A. Light.

The best safeguard against headache, constipation and liver troubles is De Witt's Little Early Risers. Keep a vial of these famous little pills in the house and take a dose at bedtime when you feel that the stomach and bowels need cleansing. They don't gripe.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

Salve! Salve! Spread the Salve, but let it be Pine Salve, natures remedy for cuts, burns, sores, etc. Sold by C. A. Light.

Diphtheria, sore throat croup. Instant relief, permanent cure. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug tore.

Letter to Baker & Young

Monessen, Pa.

Dear Sirs: Here's something every painter and builder ought to know,

Mr. J. J. Hall, Sheffield, Pa, painted two houses, 5 years ago, lead-and-oil; took 40 gallons. Last year, he painted Devoe; bought 40 gallons; had ten left.

He is one of the thousands. The knowledge is getting about pretty generally, that Devoe goes farther than anything else.

Have you found it out in your own experience?

How much farther?

Suppose a job amounts to 10,000 square feet; how much less Devoe could you buy?

Is it as easy to paint? Does it cost any more or less to put-on by the gallon than anything else? how much?

If it costs no more to put-on Devoe by the gallon it costs less by the foot, you know; for the gallon does more feet. How much less, do you find it, for wages

Lasts, say, twice as long; that is the owner's gain; but perhaps you reckon it yours; some do. The time, when that comes-in, when he gives-out the next job?

Who gets it?

Yours truly

F W Devoe & Co

RENT PAYS FOR LAND.

Fertile Sections of the Southwest, Where Land Sells for $15 and Rents for $2 per Acre.

One of the remarkable things about Eastern Arkansas and Northern Louisiana is the fact that cleared land rents for $5 per acre cash, and can be bought for $7.50 to $15 per acre. It costs from $6 to $10 an acre to clear it. Other improvements necessary are slight and inexpensive.

The soil is rich alluvial, or made. It produces a bale of cotton per acre, worth $45 to $60. This accounts for its high rental value. Other crops, such as corn, small grains, grasses, vegetables and fruits, thrive as well.

Alfalfa yields 4 to 6 cuttings, a ton to a cutting, and brings $10 to $16 per ton

In other sections of these states, and in Texas as well, the rolling or hill-land is especially adapted to stock raising and fruit growing. Land is very cheap, $5 to $10 per acre; improved farms $10, $15 to $25 per acre.

The new White River country offers many opportunities for settlers. High, rolling, fine water—it is naturally adapted to stock and fruit raising. Can be bought as low as $3 per acre.

See this great country for yourself and pick out a location. Descriptive literature, with maps, free on request.
